

LEWIS REJECTS PROPOSAL TO SETTLE COAL WAGE DISPUTE

ATTITUDE OF U. S. ON VETO IS OUTLINED

American Position Is Set Forth In Nine-Point Program By Senator Tom Connally

ISSUES BLUNT WARNING

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 15.—(P)—The United States announced its first firm stand against any charter to eliminate or modify the big power veto privileges in the Security Council.

At the same time it called on the other four powers to restrict the use of the veto voluntarily to "the very rare and exceptional cases."

The American position was set forth in a 9-point program by Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) first representative of the big powers to reply to the attack on the veto which was launched by the general assembly's 51-member political and security committee yesterday by six small nations.

Connally warned bluntly that "division between the great powers over intervention or the use of force might result in war instead of peace" but declared that the veto must not be used to "frustrate" the functioning of the council.

He did not mention Russia by name, but in what appeared to be a reference to the frequent use of the veto by the Soviet Union he declared that the permanent members of the council "have no right to cast a vote in any narrow or nationalistic or selfish interest."

Connally declared flatly that any amendment to the charter is impossible at this time, but expressed the hope that agreement among the Big Five powers "may make it possible in the future to modify" the use of the veto.

The British were expected to lend their voice to the U. S. plea.

The first round of debate over the veto power brought a warning from Argentina yesterday that little nations could exercise a veto of their own by walking out of the assembly.

Most observers believed, however, that much as the small nations oppose the veto they would not attempt such a vote.

Cuba and the Philippines made the "dictatorship" charge against the five major powers holding the veto right in the Security Council on all vital decisions.

Seven nations rose in revolt against the veto in a ten-hour session of the 51-nation committee to amend the charter to defend the veto in the opening round.

The bulk of the awards were announced here and in Oslo yesterday and last night. They consist of interest from a $9,000,000 bequest of Albert B. Nobel. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Lichtenwalter Candidate For Top Post In The Assembly

Harrisburg, Nov. 15.—(P)—Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter of Lehigh county, boomed by his friends for speaker of the 1947 state house of representatives, announced today he is a candidate for the top post in the house.

Lichtenwalter, who worked closely with Governor-Elect James H. Duff in the 1945 legislature for enactment of the GOP administration's program on stream clearance and conservation, also said he has been assured of the support of many party leaders and members of the house.

His announcement came as Rep. Ira T. Fiss, of Snyder county, speaker for the last two regular sessions of the general assembly, maintained silence on whether he will try to break the 153-year-old precedent against more than two terms in the post.

Lichtenwalter was first elected to the house from Lehigh county in 1939 and served as Republican leader in the lower branch in the

Admiral Byrd Looks Over Antarctic Route

Admiral Richard E. Byrd, left, uses his pipe for a pointer as he discusses his 1946-47 Antarctic expedition with Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, center, chief of naval operations, and Captain Richard Cruzen, who will command the task force assigned to the expedition. The mission, described officially as "top secret," is planning to get under way about December 2, with approximately 4000 officers and men taking part.

Mayor First Victim Of Parking Meters

Parsons, W. Va., Nov. 15.—(P)—Mayor Carmen DiSacco officiating at the installation of the city's new parking meters, warned motorists they must adhere strictly to the overtime rules.

That was three weeks ago yesterday the mayor, sheepishly turned in the first violation ticket to City Clerk Grant Smith and dug into his pocket for a $1 fine.

Higher Wages Keynote Of CIO Meeting

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 15.—(P)—CIO leaders today warned more and more to the view that their convention next week will submerge factionalism and present a united CIO front to the world.

The general feeling is that Philip Murray will accept reelection as president and that he will point the organization squarely toward an economic target: Higher wages.

The CIO executive board was to assemble again this afternoon after a one-day recess.

The resolutions committee, with Van Buitner as chairman and Lee Pressman as secretary, scheduled its first meeting today.

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, met reporters yesterday and attributed setbacks in the November 5 elections primarily to two factors:

- (1) Not enough people voted;
- (2) Some of the candidates supported by the CIO were "uninspired."

Kroll conceded that "we did take a trimming," but not a "complete licking" by any means. He said the CIO-PA worked intensively in about 100 congressional districts in the general elections (not primaries), and that "about 73 came through." He expressed the determination of the CIO-PA to work harder than ever in the municipal elections of 1947 and the national elections of 1948.

Complete Church Merger Saturday

Johnstown, Nov. 15.—(P)—Nearly 700 delegates attending national conferences of the Evangelical and the United Brethren in Christ Churches today turned their attention to winding up the affairs of their separate groups, prior to a merger of the bodies to take place tomorrow.

Addition of U. B.'s more than 450,000 members to Evangelical's quarter of a million will produce a single church with more than 700,000 communicants and make it the 10th largest religious organization in the United States.

Evangelical delegates yesterday selected general officers. The U. B. delegates, who held a general conference earlier in the year, concentrated mostly on routine business. Wesley O. Clark, general treasurer of the church, said today receipts on budget quotas for 1945 were $672,217 for the first six months of 1946.

Informal Meeting Called To Break Deadlock Over Trieste

New York, Nov. 15.—(P)—The Big Four foreign ministers faced with an American warning that the prestige of the United Nations is at stake in the future of Trieste, resorted to a small informal meeting today in an extraordinary effort to break the Trieste deadlock.

Secretary of State Byrnes told his colleagues that he proposed free territory of Trieste must be governed by a representative of the United Nations Security Council.

Foreign Minister Molotov held out for limiting these powers and giving increased authority to a council of government responsible to an elective assembly.

Containing that Molotov's proposal would fail to protect minority rights in the territory inhabited by both Italians and Slavs, Byrnes declared, according to diplomats present.

The rights of minorities would not be sufficiently guaranteed by a governor with "empty hands" and they must be guaranteed because in their protection the prestige of the United Nations is at stake.

Byrnes made his assertion in the course of a lengthy argument in the night's council session. Although he did most of the talking for the western powers, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Deputy French Foreign Minister Coeur de Murville were lined up with him and against Molotov on the issue.

The meeting ended when Byrnes said that before the Big Four finally decided to disagree they should make at least one attempt to get together.

Grove City Airport Damaged By Blaze

Grove City, Nov. 15.—(P)—Fire destroyed two light training planes valued at $9,000 and damaged a repair shop at the Grove City airport last night.

Gardner Birch, airport manager, said the flames started in one of the planes, and spread to the second plane nearby and the interior of the shop.

A group of ground school students battled the flames until men arrived from Grove City, Mercer and Suppury Rock. Several private and airport planes were removed from a hangar adjoining the repair shop.

Birch said the destroyed planes were valued at $4,500 each, but that he could not estimate damage to the shop until an inventory is completed.

The airport is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Findlay C. Wilson, who also own the New Castle airport.

Plans To Slash Taxes Bump Into Opposition From GOP As Well As Dem Lawmakers

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—Congressional Republicans swung an axe at taxes today, but ran into opposition from their own and Democratic ranks to any revenue slashes not paired with even deeper cuts in spending.

Members of the house Republican steering committee, eager to get their party's hands on legislative controls for the first time in 14 years, laid before senate colleagues a quickly-assembled program to take a 20 per cent slice off individual income taxes. Charges in business levies would await detailed study.

Acting while the senators mostly talked—among other things about how to block Democratic Senator Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi from taking his seat—the house group went down the line for:

1. An eight-year tenure for future presidents.
2. "Constructive" labor legislation.
3. An end to war powers.
4. Relief from soap, oils and food shortages and.
5. "Substantial savings" in government costs.

The house members supported their 20 per cent tax cut proposal with a formal assertion that it could be achieved "while at the same time the current budget can be balanced and payments begun on the national debt."

Chairman Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, who led the senate group into its second day of discussion, said he agreed that it could be done and that the federal budget could be pared to $50,000,000,000 next year—$11,000,000,000 less than this year's budget.

But Senator-Elect John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, one of the "freshmen" who will give the Republicans control of the senate, told a reporter he thinks taxes must be maintained at their present level to give the treasury a chance of making payments on the debt.

The senate committee agreed with the house group that the congressional recognition plan must go through as the 79th congress approved it, with fewer committees but higher pay and pensions for the lawmakers.

But while delaying any formal legislative recommendations until all their newly elected colleagues can have a crack at them in a party conference early in January, the senators reportedly decided informally to attempt to bar Bilbo at the door when he presents himself for a new term.

While mutual flights will begin tomorrow, at least two weeks will be required to restore the line's full schedule.

The agreement signed this morning ends the strike by leaving to the decision of a three-man panel a number of disputed points.

The pilots originally began seeking new pay scales and working rules for flying four engine equipment more than a year ago. Their demands ranged as high as $15,000 a year compared with the company's estimate of $12,000 a year for top paid pilots at present.

Jack Frye, TWA president, issued a statement saying "the strike has hurt TWA to an extent we cannot immediately determine."

The company said it will begin accepting reservations immediately.

Legion Chief Feted By His Home Town

Uniontown, Nov. 15.—(P)—In a gay holiday atmosphere, fellow townsmen today held colorful ceremonies honoring Paul H. Griffith, Uniontown war veteran, for his recent election as national commander of the American Legion.

Starting with a 21-bomb salute welcoming Griffith's train into the Pennsylvania station, the program included a massive parade, reception and a notification address by Governor Edward Martin. Nine bands and drum and bugle corps were to take part in the parade.

The "great goal" of America is world peace but to attain this goal "we must first have unity at home," Governor Martin declared.

With unity, he said, there can be "a real advance toward the great objective—peace on earth and good will towards men."

In a prepared address delivered at ceremonies he said:

"In our selfish approach (to peace) diplomats, labor organizations, statesmen, business concern and even educational institutions have failed," the governor asserted.

Martin, Pennsylvania's new U. S. senator-elect, said the church is really the only organization that crosses boundary lines of nations and breaks down the narrowness existing between races."

FOUR TYPES ELECTRIC APPARATUS ARE HIKED

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15.—(P)—Price increases of eight to 25 per cent on four types of electrical equipment were announced by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. yesterday.

The price of fractional horsepower motors used in household appliances was increased about 25 percent, the price of integral motors of one or more horsepower was boosted an average of 13 percent, that of low voltage switch gear equipment 20 percent, and the cost of distribution transformers was advanced about eight percent.

CRUDE PRODUCTION IN FIELD SHOWS A DROP

Bradford, Nov. 15.—(P)—Crude oil production dropped both in the Bradford and the adjacent Allegheny fields last week, the Pennsylvania Oil Producers Association reported today.

Comparative figures were: Bradford, week ended Nov. 9, average of 27,507 barrels daily; previous week, 30,420; Allegheny, week ended Nov. 9, average of 9,025 barrels daily; previous week, 10,740.

"Mrs. America" Crown Perplexes The Winner

Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—(P)—The "Mrs. America" crown weighed heavily on the Follock household today.

It presented this problem: Should Mrs. Janice Follock, 24-year old brunette beauty, retain the title and make a six-month tour of the country, or abdicate and stay at home with her husband and four children?

The husband, salesman Marion S. Pollock, announced after his wife flew here from Jackson, Miss., where she won the honor and $2,500, that she would abdicate.

This morning, however, he said she might remain on the throne after all.

Chinese Peace Hopes "Sunk" Reds Declare

Nanking, Nov. 15.—(P)—Chang Kai-Shek called the national assembly into session today as the boycotted Communist delegation hinting that China's peace hopes were "sunk," packed its bags to leave Nanking.

The departing Communist leader, Gen. Chou En-Lai, said darkly that the government's "unilateral decision" to go ahead with the assembly would send civil warfare flaring in north China—blazing higher than ever.

While the Communists and the Democratic League stuck to a decision not to send delegates, the generalissimo stood before the assembly and hailed it as the beginning of constitutional government for China.

The day of political tutelage in China, he said, was now over. Among the listening delegates was Madame Chiang. The assembly adjourned until Saturday, when the first preparatory session will be held.

Thirty inner Mongolian delegates threatened to walk out unless the government grants some measure of autonomy to their and other border provinces.

Their spokesman, Yung Hsiang, told the press his delegation demands that the government fulfill a promise to grant the provinces self administration, but they are not demanding separation from the China republic, as did outer Mongolia.

Navy Veteran Kills Mother With Iron Bar

Scranton, Nov. 15.—(P)—Detective Captain Edward J. Kelly said an 18-year-old navy veteran admitted today he beat his widowed mother to death with an iron bar.

Grand Juror was quoted by Kelly as saying:

"I just flew off the handle and killed her."

The widow, 50-year-old Mrs. Mary Farley, was found brutally beaten shortly before last midnight in the second floor bedroom of her home. Her face and head were battered.

Grand Juror previously told police he returned home from a movie at 11:30 p. m. and found his mother dead. Kelly said the room bore evidence of a terrible struggle.

Neighbors reported hearing Mrs. Farley screaming shortly before discovery of the body was announced but said they heard no sound from a dog at the home.

Failure of the dog to go to the widow's aid aroused suspicions and resulted in Grand Juror's questioning. Kelly said "The veteran made a statement after several hours, the detective reported."

The veteran received a medical discharge three or four months ago, said Kelly, and his background was being checked before being charged. The youth was jailed and Kelly said his statement would be made public later.

Ranking Withdraws Contempt Threat

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—Rep. Ranking (D-Miss.) withdrew today his announced intention to cite Dr. Harlow Shapley, noted Harvard astronomer, for contempt of the house committee on un-American activities.

Instead, Ranking said he will refer what he called Shapley's refusal to answer questions to a meeting of the full committee next Friday.

Ranking had announced after an angry clash with Shapley yesterday that the astronomer would be cited for contempt. Shapley countered with assertions that Ranking used "star chamber" and "gestapo" methods in questioning him about activities of four organizations in the recent election campaign in Massachusetts.

The Mississippi congress member, sitting as a one-man committee, was conducting the inquiry behind closed doors.

While Shapley said the questions concerned election activities, Ranking said in a statement today that the inquiry was part of the committee's investigation of certain Communist front organizations to which it has been charged that Dr. Shapley belonged.

DEVELOPMENT IS EXPECTED DURING DAY

Secretary of Interior Krug Is Closely Watched With President Following General Session

LEWIS REMAINS SILENT

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—President Truman announced today the rejection by John L. Lewis of a proposal by Secretary of Interior Krug for settlement of the coal wage dispute. At the same time the president, terming the government's proposal "fair and equitable," called for its "serious reconsideration."

He declared a second look will convince the United Mine Workers it is for the best interest of all concerned. In a formal statement, Mr. Truman said the government cannot replace "without interfering with true collective bargaining between management and labor."

Krug's proposal, the president said, "has been accepted by the bituminous coal miners of the United States." He said the government's proposal was "a fair and equitable" one.

The president's statement was issued at the White House shortly after Mr. Truman boarded the Yacht Williamsburg for a trip to Annapolis. The president's departure had been delayed about an hour by last-minute conferences with Krug and Reconstruction Director John R. Steinhilber.

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—John L. Lewis threatened soft coal shutdown came up for cabinet discussion today at the White House.

President Truman surveyed the situation at the regular Friday cabinet meeting, and then continued to explore it with Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Krug remained closeted with the president for more than a half hour after the general cabinet session broke up.

Today was the day on which Lewis was to announce whether his 400,000 United Mine Workers will quit work in the soft coal pits next Wednesday.

The round of White House conferences today presumably delayed President Truman's planned departure for Annapolis aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

The president previously had arranged to leave the White House at 12:30 p. m. for the Washington navy yard, where the Williamsburg waited to take him to Annapolis and tomorrow's navy football game with Penn State.

Shortly after 1 p. m., however, Mr. Truman was still in the executive offices.

No explanation was forthcoming from aides on the delay in his sailing.

Secretary of War Patterson told reporters after the cabinet meeting that the coal situation had come up, but that there had been "only the most general mention" of it.

Attorney General Tom Clark said Krug told the cabinet there might be some development this afternoon.

Presidential Secretary Eber Ayers told reporters that Secretary of the Interior Krug conferred with Mr. Truman at the White House for "a few minutes" yesterday and saw him again today at the regular cabinet meeting.

Krug has been running the mines since the government seized them last May to end a strike. Ayers declined to say what Krug had discussed with the president in connection with his talks with Lewis and other United Mine Workers officials. Both sides have kept silent on the progress, if any, these talks have made.

Asked if the president had intervened in the coal situation, Ayers said not to his knowledge.

He said that reconstruction Director John R. Steinhilber, the president's adviser on labor matters, (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Government Reported Ready To Lump Wartime Agencies

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—plans to whittle its present staff of about 34,000 workers down to junk the government reportedly 15,600 by February 1 and to reorganize its 64 district offices to branch status by December 1.

Simultaneously, the Civilian Production Administration took another long step toward casting off its remaining restraints by abolishing the low-cost clothing program.

Under that setup textile manufacturers were required to channel specific percentages of their output to clothing makers who were required to produce certain quantities of low and medium priced garments.

"The termination of all price controls on textiles," CPA said "has made (this) no longer practical."

Broken Pipe Did Damage at Carver Hotel

A broken water pipe at the Carver Hotel this morning shortly after 1 o'clock gave employees of the hotel and what guests there were the opportunity to make a hard work. The pipe allowed the water to pour down over electric wires and it was feared that a short circuit might develop and cause a fire. The fire department was contacted and stood on the alert to handle any fire that might follow out this was averted by careful handling of the situation.

Police were enlisted in the affair and with the cruder car rounded up a plumber who made necessary repairs and shut off the water. The wiring was also given attention. The situation for a time was fraught with some grave possibilities but the management handled the situation in a competent manner.

Carl Brock Presents S well Show at Field and Stream Meeting at the Court House

The Field and Stream Club members, totaling 1,653 this year, swarmed to the court house last night to enjoy the program put on after the regular business meeting by O. Carlyle Brock, of Erie. The court room was packed to capacity with some standees in the back and extra rows of seats in the front to enjoy the narration and color movies put on by Mr. Brock about his big game hunting expeditions into Alaska and northern Canada.

In the regular business meeting the president, Len Donaldson, called the meeting to order and the minutes were read along with the treasurer's report. It was stated in the report that when the totals of the Field Day were in, the amount in the treasury would add up close to $4,000. After a discussion on the local game question, Carl Brock took over.

In the five or six reels of film shown, many nice shots of moose, bear and fish were shown. The travels shown in the movies, Mr. Brock doing his own photographing, went from dog sled trips in northern Canada to airplane and canoe trips in Alaska and Canada.

One of Mr. Brock's reels showed almost extensively on bears fishing and showed some nice shots of bears plunging their heads under water for the salmon, which were rushing up the streams by the hundreds to spawn, and trying to scoop them up with their paws.

In one of the reels Mr. Brock's 13 year old son killed a great Kodiak bear, its head being a suitable match for half of the carcass of one of our little blackies in Warren county. Other pictures of black bears and grizzlies astounded the audience, along with nice pictures of a big bull moose which tripped in the deep snow.

All in all, the crowd enjoyed one of the most interesting programs that has been presented in Warren in a long time and people will be looking for Mr. Brock to come back after his hunting trip to the Aleutians which will come next year.

Frame House Destroyed By Fire Thursday
Thursday afternoon the frame farm house owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Archie Firth on Lanning Hill, about four miles southwest of Lander burned to the ground. The Sugar Grove fire department made a quick run to the scene but the fire was so far advanced that efforts were directed to saving of other buildings on the farm.

The house was a good frame construction and while it had been occupied for many years was in a good state of repair. It was well furnished and when the fire broke out Mrs. Firth was away from home and Mr. Firth was engaged in plowing. The fire had gained headway when noticed and the alarm sounded drawing neighbors and others to the scene.

All contents of the home and the clothing of the Firths were destroyed in the flames and the loss will be a heavy one. Mr. and Mrs. Firth were given shelter by neighbors last night.

Cause of the fire is thought to have been a defective chimney or flue as the fire was burning briskly on the upper portion of the home when first seen.

Big Steer Dressed And Is Redy For Turkey Party

One of the big de luxe steers of the Mathis farm passed away quietly last evening and today is all dressed and in wonderful shape for his appearance at the Monday evening turkey party at the Marconi Outing Club. The animal will be ensconced in the big roaster Sunday night and should emerge tender and juicy Monday evening.

Those attending the turkey party will find that the steer sandwiches which will be served free to all who attend will be just about the best palate teaser that has struck Warren in a long time. The party will have no admission fee and the gourmets who enjoy good beef sandwiches will have a rare opportunity to test their capacity.

Arrangements for the affair have progressed to the state where this can be written on almost every detail. Ben Mathis and Deb Lewis, who have had worlds of experience in the preparation of good

Potato Display Wins Attention In Window at Penn Electric

In the window of the Pennsylvania Electric Company there is a display of Warren county grown potatoes packed in the famous Blue Bag, which denotes they are being marketed through the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association. An effort is being made at the present time to have every grocery store in Warren sell the Warren county grown potatoes exclusively. To that end all grocers are being enlisted in the campaign.

This year Warren county potato growers have to date marketed 175,000 pecks of potatoes in the Blue Label bags through the cooperative office at Union City conducted by Frank L. Dodds, area manager. The Blue Label bag is a guarantee that the potatoes have been graded and are up to or above standard requirements. Every grower using the bags is pledged to abide by the standard.

The potato crop this year is a larger crop than for several years due to the care in which they were grown, sprayed and nurtured during the growing season. The weather was particularly good for the growth and the warm summer gave the potatoes a meaty, well ripened firmness above the average. The crop for this year is reported as being between 150,000 and 200,000 bushels of fine potatoes.

Plaintiff Is Given Award In Civil Suit

The jury in the trial which has been under way in civil court since Monday, resulting from a automobile collision on Route 59, between Kinzua and Bradford over two years ago, brought in a verdict last night at 10:40 o'clock, of $1,065 in favor of the plaintiff, Helen G. Bowler, administratrix of the estate of Mary E. Bowler, deceased. The defendant was D. R. McClelland. All other cases on the docket were continued.

Kenneth W. Rice, of Meadville, and J. H. Goldstein, of Warren, were attorneys for the plaintiff. The defendant was represented by Sidney D. Blackman, of this city, and Nash and Mutsbaugh.

The suit was one of several that have been instituted as a result of the accident in which four persons from Bradford and four from Meadville were injured. It occurred Labor Day, 1944. According to the report at the time, a sedan driven by Mary Bowler, of Meadville, and owned by Ellison Copeland, and a pick-up truck operated by David R. McClelland of R. D. 1, Kinzua, figured in the collision.

Other passengers in the truck were Mrs. Edith Anderson and daughter, Caroline, and son, William, of 71 State street, Bradford. The occupants of the Copeland car was returning to Meadville after visiting in Bradford and were taking the Mangus child back with them for a visit.

Corp. J. R. Vaughn of the Warren State Police barracks, who investigated the accident, stated at the time he was unable to ascertain from the principals what caused the crash, whether it was the slippery condition of the highway, due to the heavy rain, or the blowing out of a tire.

The Copeland car was proceeding west when, it is said, it skidded and crashed head-on into the McClelland truck, which was going east.

The Mangus child was believed the most serious hurt at the time, but Mrs. Bowler later died as a result of her injuries.

Outing Club Plans Program For Week End

Frank Williams, of the Outing Club entertainment committee stated this morning that visitors to the club this weekend will find they have been provided one of the best bits of entertainment they have had. The club has arranged for some extra special attractions and the floor show will bring to the club devotees some of the best performers that have been here this fall season.

Good music, singing and dancing will win applause.

Over the weekend the management has arranged to present the crowd with a pre-view of the show this evening without the usual admission fee. This will allow many who cannot get out Saturday and Sunday nights to see this excellent show. The crowds on Saturday and Sunday evenings are always so large that by removal for the admission fee on Friday evening opportunity is given many to attend.

Recreation Center has Roseland all dolled up for the season and the dancing parties over the weekend should draw good crowds.

To Investigate Rail Crossing At Sugar Run

Discussion of plans for lessening the hazards of the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Route 59, at Sugar Run was the highlight of the November meeting of the board of governors of the Warren County Motor Club held last evening in the Blue and White restaurant. The members agreed that the crossing is one of the most vital danger spots in the county, because of the peculiar dip in the approach from the McKean county end.

As a result of a letter received from R. C. Frick, local supervisor of the railroad company a committee was named to arrange for a date with Mr. Frick to inspect the crossing and consider methods for relieving the situation. The committee is headed by President A. A. Albaugh, who was in charge of the meeting for the first time since his recent illness, along with I. G. Darling and R. M. Mohr.

Plans for securing larger and more suitable office quarters for the Motor Club were considered and it is expected that definite announcement will be made in the near future.

The membership, as of November first was reported at 1085, and plans were promoted to increase the roll during the coming months. Everybody reads the Times-Mirror

Pauline Snider Is
November 9 Bride
At St. Callistus'

In a candlelight ceremony performed November 9 in St. Callistus' church in Kane, Pauline Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Snider, James City, became the bride of Louis Ulyan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ulyan, Sr., of Sheffield.

The Rev. Daniel Dougherty read the double ring service before an altar decorated with varnished pompons and ferns. Mrs. Samuel Costano presided at the organ and accompanied Kathryn Tigani, who sang "Ave Maria" and "One Hour With Thee."

Julie Snider, of Cleveland, O., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Anna Snider, James City, sister of the bride, Nellie Ulyan, Sheffield, sister of the bridegroom, and Gertrude Ulyan, Mt. Jewett.

Frank Ulyan, Sheffield, served as his brother's best man, and ushers were Steve Turk, Frewsburg, N. Y.; Mike Otto, Sheffield, and Joseph Rollick, James City.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a white gown fashioned with a satin bodice and full lace skirt forming an aisle, wide train. Her fingertip cell cascaded from a crown of orange blossoms and her arm bouquet was of white roses. The maid of honor was attired in blue satin and net, with matching headpiece holding in place her shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was of pink roses. Bridesmaids wore similar gowns of pink satin and net, with pink sequin crowns and shoulder length veils. Their bouquets were of yellow roses. Mothers of the principals wore black crepe, each with matching accessories and corsages of red roses and white pompons.

Following a wedding dinner for the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents, a reception was held at the James City community hall. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with fall flowers and centered with a four-tier wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures.

Mrs. Ulyan is presently employed by Speer Carbon Company at Kane. Mr. Ulyan was discharged last year after serving three years in the U. S. Navy and is now employed as foreman by the Hooper Engineering Company of Warren and as bartender at Limberlost. After a wedding trip along the Atlantic Coast, the couple will be at home to friends on the Kane road at Sheffield.

Guests at the reception were from Cleveland, O.: Gwanda, Bemus Point, Frewsburg, N. Y.; St. Marys, Corry, Bradford, Mt. Jewett, Connersport, Warren, Ludlow and Sheffield.

Fine Speaker At
November Meet
Of College Club

The Association of College Women held its November meeting at the home of Miss Dorothy Newell, Second avenue, Wednesday evening. During the business session, four persons were admitted to membership: Miss Mary Louise Hickey, Miss Betty Sedwick, Miss Jane Anderson, and Mrs. Alice Turner.

Mrs. Harold Banghart, chairman of the committee in charge of the program, introduced Miss Olive Williams, who spoke to the members on "World Peace Problems As They Are Being Acted on at Flushing Meadows."

She spoke of the difficulties among the delegates to understand each other's language and meanings and the work involved among interpreters who were stationed all over to help the delegates. She said that the Russians seem to be convinced they made an outstanding contribution to end the war and that they were the ones who really contributed the most to rid Europe of the Nazi and Fascist elements. She recommended for reading, "Must We Fight Russia?" by Eli Culbertson. She said she felt that the representatives of Russia attending the conference of the United Nations are more democratic than before and seem to mingle with the people more than on other occasions.

Miss Williams had also attended the Herald Tribune Forum, where the theme was "Justice For All". One of the main questions brought up was the question of India's relation with England and her problems. The difficulties of the Negroes to receive equal rights in this country was also brought out. Walter Lipman's closing message was that "we are not seeing one world fall to pieces; but we are seeing one world being born, or in the making." Opportunity questions was given at the close of her excellent talk.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Melvin Keller and the following committee served lunch: Mrs. R. W. Steber, Mrs. Quay McCune, Mrs. W. C. Fuelhart, Miss Mary Margaret Wade, Mrs. R. J. Wilson, Miss Marie Gutzler, Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. W. H. Schellhammer, Mrs. N. P. Wendelboe, Mrs. Marian Keiser.

Yesterday Is Nowhere

By BEATRICE MUIR

Chapter 19

ONLY when Stephanie reached her own room, did she feel weak. Blindly she tumbled against the end of her bed gripping the knife. It was still warm in her hand. She looked at it. It wasn't just a dinner-knife now, it was a symbol—a symbol of the thing she had quibbled aside for the last few years—to fight for what she knew was right and good. No sudden pity for Niel had made her help him, no dutiful loyalty to Franz, to save him in spite of himself, rather it was as if all the years of her living, learning, thinking, suddenly came together in a spiritual force that couldn't be denied.

Slowly she set the knife on her dressing table and looked in the mirror but instead of her face it was filled by a thousand vivid memories. Bitter, unchangeable memories—Conrad leaning over the radio, his eyes smarting, listening to Hitler's broadcast from Vienna; Freya, her splendid face almost stupid from shock, crying at them: "I'm put Ernest in prison because his grand-mother was Jewish! ... what's happening here in Germany!" And her father, suddenly aged beyond indignation, beyond tears: "Franz doesn't want to help Freya, it doesn't matter to him." There were others—dry-eyed men who came one by one to tell their stories, then leave abruptly to escape the Gestapo; Franz changing to a man she didn't know and at times barely liked. Then the unspeakable war years that dimmed past suffering to a dream.

The mirror cleared and yesterday was gone from her, leaving only a hollow sadness. A knock came on her door. She slipped the knife in a drawer and went to open the door. Siegmund stood there, a finger across his lips.

She held the door wider. "Come in!" He closed it noiselessly and drew her away from it, floundering in awkwardness.

"Madame Steiner it is because of Herr Conrad I take this liberty... I beg you to forgive me. She caught her breath and he went on. "Once he saved my father's life when S. S. troopers threw him out of his church." An added urgency quickened his voice. "You must warn him that the General has assigned a Captain Hans Weibel to watch him whenever he leaves the house." He clicked his heels: "Thanking you, Madame." In another minute she was alone.

Shortly after she finished dressing she heard Conrad's long stride in the hall. She had to listen her lips before she could tell him to come in when he knocked.

"Time is getting short, Stephanie."

"I know"

"And I think Von Beck is suspicious of me."

"I think so too." Something in her voice brought his head up, his eyes searching her face.

"What do you mean by that?"

She told him about Siegmund. They stared at each other.

"Really," he said, as if thinking aloud, "it would be much better for all of us if Von Beck was to die suddenly." She could hardly reconcile his calm voice with his words.

"You must not!"

Irony touched his lips. "It seems that what I must not do becomes every passing day more of a must. I keep wondering how long it will take Franz to reach the same conclusion... credit to him that he hasn't thought of it yet." Then he saw the tears in her eyes and stood up. His arms tightened around her. "Don't think of it, little one." Then in a lighter voice: "If you feel up to it will you go downstairs, Dana is there with Franz."

"I'll go." She walked to the door with him.

SHE decided to take the knife down with her. That it was scratched and blunted would hold little significance compared to the space it would leave if Joseph decided to set the silver piece to piece for counting. With a little smile she flicked the knife across her fingernails as she descended the staircase but in spite of her determined self-assurance she was startled when the library door suddenly opened and Dana and Franz walked into the hall. Niel's eyes riveted on the knife. She knew what he was thinking but she smiled at him.

"Good morning, Mr. Dana, Franz." They both answered in English and Franz's voice, so much like an echo, sent a twinge of regret through her. "Must you go upstairs," she said brightly, "I was intending to play hostess."

He looked at Franz.

"Please stay down," said Franz, "if you break away we'll hold Stephanie responsible and shoot her at dawn." They all laughed. "Joking aside, Siegmund will be in the hall" Niel grinned at him and nodded his head. Standing there with them in the cheerful morning light it was impossible to believe anything terrible could happen to him.

"I want to hear you play the piano," she said. Niel moved with her to the drawing room. At the doorway she turned to Franz. "Come along for a little while!"

"I'd like to," he smiled eagerly. "But I can't spare the time. I'm glad you're feeling better, Stephanie." She smiled, then closed the door.

Away from the door she held up the knife, reproach in every line of her face. "You thought I intended to hand it over and tell."

As Niel was about to deny it she added quickly, "I knew what you were, thinking, it was in your eyes."

He flushed a little. "Forgive me... I did."

"But why?"

"Because suddenly it seemed too much to do for me."

"You don't know me very well, Mr. Dana," she said, with quiet dignity.

'Hello, Tokyo—I Do!'

Probably a record for long-distance weddings is the recent marriage of Dona Lebedev in Washington, D. C., to Capt. Walter Hettlinger, stationed in Tokyo. Above, the bride is pictured saying "I do" as Dr. Howard S. Anderson, who performed the ceremony, slips the wedding ring on her finger. Bride and groom are from Chicago, where they met five years ago.

Excellent Small Home Design Presented In "The Keene"

Good proportions and correct detail successfully blended in a compact plan are characteristic of the current House-of-the-Month being featured at the Warren National Bank. Architect Royal Wills, interpreting the needs of the small family, has created The Keene to satisfy the exacting demands of contemporary living within a simple perimeter. Its almost square dimension of 24' x 27 1/2' makes possible its construction well within moderate limits.

The long slope of the roof line, centered chimney of white-shed brick, the solid door, the all paned windows and the clad clapboard sidewalls are reminiscent of its quaint origin. The spacious living room with its ventilation has simple wall space to provide a variety of furniture arrangements. The right wing of the house is devoted to the sleeping quarters, each of its two bedrooms has windows on two walls to insure plenty of light and air. In addition to the closets in each of the bedrooms there is a coat storage closet in the adjoining hall and a closet for linens conveniently placed next to the bath entry.

For those who champion compactness on a one floor level, a unified utility space has been set aside in the kitchen to provide a central form of heating system, thereby eliminating the necessity of a basement in the original floor plan. In this arrangement the service entry is to the rear of the kitchen with the breakfast nook overlooking the side garden. However, if a full basement is desired the alternate floor plan has its stairway in the space now occupied by the heating equipment with the service entry moved opposite the stairs to provide direct access to the basement. The wall created by the stairwell then makes an excellent background for the dining table. Should the alternate plan be employed, the full basement provides additional space for storage and sufficient footage for a finished recreation room.

A disappearing stairway in the hallway provides access to the attic. This space, running the entire width of the house, has windows on both sides offering the effect

Decontrol Means a Golden Era Or Withering Disaster

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington—(AP)—Today we head into one of the golden periods of American history—or into withering disaster.

Time it may take years—will tell which.

For we have reached that point—that "free economy"—which business and labor leaders, each in their own way, have screamed for.

The government has stepped aside. On Saturday—except for sugar, rice and rents—it dropped all controls on prices and wages.

This ended the controls which have been part of our daily lives since 1942.

They had been kept 14 months after war's end to get us over that hump of reconversion when goods were scarce and prices might have rocketed.

No controls in that period might have meant very bad inflation. That danger may be less than it was a year ago. It is not past.

If it doesn't come—if things stay on an even keel in this country—we should be entering now one of our most prosperous periods.

Employment is huge. People with jobs, good wages, and money saved are hungry for goods.

With that hunger for the stuff the factories can turn out, production should be high for a good while, at least.

That's the way it may be, or might be. It's a rosy picture, maybe too rosy, and maybe too simple.

A great many things can happen. What happens now, even though it seems all right now, may have in it the seeds of future disaster.

Prices will go up on many things. That's sure. Businessmen admit this. But they say it will be only a temporary spurt.

They say when goods, generally, are plentiful, with businessmen competing against one another to make sales, prices will come down.

If through selfishness businessmen boost prices and keep them up, they will be slaughtering the chances for prosperity because:

Those high prices will drain off the earnings and savings of people who will be forced to spend on a few things money they would have spent on many. This will slow down production, generally.

And—higher prices are bound to force labor to demand higher wages, which some unions are doing already. And more may do so.

If there are strikes, bad ones, that will slow down production, still keep goods scarce, still keep prices up by keeping goods scarce.

In this way the whole machinery will be thrown out of gear.

And if labor—just because wage controls are gone—strikes for unreasonable increases, businessmen will have plenty of reason for saying they have to boost prices to meet higher wages.

The higher things go in this country, the more it will affect our trade with other countries and make them less willing to buy here. That will dent our prosperity.

So here, starting today, business and labor have a critical responsibility in seeing that prices and wages don't become a mad see-saw.

The whole point is: How high can wages and prices go—and how long can they stay up there—without an eventual, frightful crash.

After the last war prices rocketed. Then the bottom fell out. It took about 11 years after the war for the great depression to hit.

It may happen again, if we get hungry and reckless for money. This is the ghost that stands around the corner.

It stands ready to tap on the shoulder the businessmen and the labor people if, in their new found freedom of today, they skate blindfolded into the future.

EVEN EXPERTS LOSE HANDS "CARELESSLY"

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Even the expert sometimes loses a hand through his failure to count tricks, a subject I harp on persistently. Today's hand came up at an important tournament, and the bidding shown is exactly the way it took place at the table.

The expert won the opening trick with the ace of clubs and led the ace of spades, on which East played the queen. You can see that if declarer had cashed the king of spades he would have had to lose only two hearts and a diamond.

But without counting the hand out, he started on a complicated line of play. A diamond was led and the eight-spot finessed. East won with the ten and returned a heart, which was won in dummy with the ace.

Declarer trumped a small club, led a diamond to dummy's ace and trumped another club, dropping West's queen. Another diamond was led. West put on the king, and dummy trumped. The jack of clubs was led, declarer discarding one of the lose hearts.

West won this trick with a trump and held down the queen of diamonds, which East trumped with the jack of spades. The contract was down one.

Again I say, the most important lesson in the play of the hand is to count your tricks. Squeezes and end-plays will develop by themselves.

BARNES
Barnes, Nov. 12—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cowan attended the wedding in Kane, Thursday morning, of Joseph Ferri and Miss Joyce Cowan, which was held in St. Calistus church. They also attended the reception and dinner, following the ceremony which was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cowan.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Carlson of 7 Hinkle street, Warren, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Jean, to Robert E. Conquer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conquer of Barnes. The wedding will be an event of the near future.
Clifford Neal and children, Patricia and James, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neal of Jamestown, N. Y., were Sunday guests of their mother and brother, Mrs. Harvey Neal and Harry Neal.
Miss Rachel Barnes R. N., who is employed at the Warren State Hospital, spent the weekend at her home here in Barnes.
Mrs. Johanna Crowell and son, Warren Crowell, of Sandusky, O., were weekend guests at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leonard Spicer. Other guests at the Spicer home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bennett and daughter, Nancy, of Jackson Run.
Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Husted moved to Rickford Sunday, where they were guests for the day of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wirtz.
Mr. and Mrs. John MacMartin Jr., and children, Shirley and Jack, of Ceres, N. Y., were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Cook, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alling and sons, Philip and Robert, of Ludlow, spent the weekend as guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Alling. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alling, who were recently married, are enjoying a honeymoon trip to Tulsa, Okla.
The Adult Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School met in the church Thursday afternoon for its monthly meeting. In the absence of the president, Mrs. George Conquer, Mrs. Lettie Hoyer led the meeting. Mrs. L. L. Husted was hostess for the meeting and Mrs. D. R. Titus gave a very interesting study about Africa.
Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lyle visited at the home of Mrs. Maude Thomas in Warren Sunday.
Mrs. Anna Chandler, who by her diligent work and keen interest has been known as Barnes' most ardent missionary, is again requesting work materials. She uses old white muslins, used greeting cards of all kinds and bright colored pictures, which would be of interest to children needing scrapbooks. Used Sabbath school quarterlies and papers are most urgently needed. Although Mrs. Chandler is almost ninety five years of age, the work that she turns out is a model of neatness and her boxes, lovingly enough, to be called works of art.

Full Text of Statement By Truman On Future Policy

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Following is the full text of President Truman's statement on the future of the government, outlining the policy to be followed by the administration.

"The people have elected a Republican majority to the senate and to the house of representatives. Under our constitution the congress is the lawmaking body. The people have chosen to entrust the controlling voice in this branch of our government to the Republican party. I accept their verdict in the spirit in which all good citizens accept the result of any fair election.

"At the same time and under the same constitution, the duties and responsibilities of the chief executive and of the executive branch of the government are entrusted to me and my associates.

"Our government is founded upon the constitutional principle that the three branches of the government are independent of each other. Under this principle our country has prospered and grown great. I should be less than candid, however, if I omitted to state that the present situation threatens difficulties.

"Only by the exercise of wisdom and restraint and the constant determination to place the interest of our country above all other interests, can we meet and solve the problems ahead of us.

"The stake is large. Our great internal strength and our eminent position in the world are not as some may too easily assume, indestructible.

"I shall devote all my energy to the discharge of my duty with a full realization of the responsibility which results from the present state of affairs. I do not claim for myself and my associates greater devotion to the welfare of our nation than I ascribe to others of another party. We take the oath of office. We have at one time or another been equally willing to offer our lives in the defense of our country. I shall proceed, therefore, in the belief that the members of the congress will discharge their duties with a full realization of their responsibility.

"Inevitably, issues will arise between the president and the congress. When this occurs, we must examine our respective positions with stern and critical analysis to exclude any attempt to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage.

"The change in the majority in the congress does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems. In foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow. Our foreign policy has been developed and executed on a bipartisan basis. I have done by best to strengthen and extend this practice.

"Members of both parties in and out of the congress have participated in the inner council in preparing, and in actually carrying out, the foreign policies of our government. It has been a national and not a party program. It will continue to be a national program insofar as the secretary of state and I are concerned. I firmly believe that our Republican colleagues who have worked intelligently and cooperatively with us in the task will do so in the future.

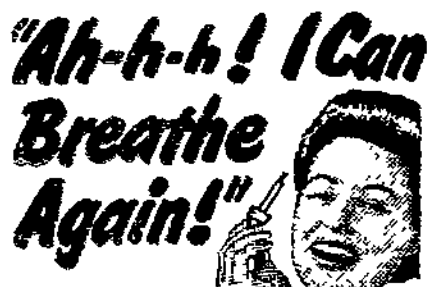

"My concern is not about those in either party who know the seriousness of the problems which confront us in our foreign affairs. Those who share great problems are united and not divided by them. My concern is lest any in either party should seek in this field an opportunity to achieve personal notoriety or partisan advantage by exploitation of the sensational or by the mere creation of controversy.

"We are set upon a hard course. An effort by either the executive or the legislative branch of the government to embarrass the other or to gain partisan advantage would bring frustration to our country. To follow the course with honor to ourselves and with benefit to our country, we must look beyond and above ourselves and our party interests for the true bearing.

"As president of the United States I am guided by a simple formula: To do in all cases, from day to day, without regard to narrow political considerations, what seems to me to be best for the welfare of all our people. Our search for that welfare must always be based upon a progressive concept of government.

"I shall cooperate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of cooperation will be reciprocated.

"To them, one and all, I pledge faith with faith, and promise to meet all good will with good will."

their duties with a full realization of their responsibility.

"Inevitably, issues will arise between the president and the congress. When this occurs, we must examine our respective positions with stern and critical analysis to exclude any attempt to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage.

"The change in the majority in the congress does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems. In foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow. Our foreign policy has been developed and executed on a bipartisan basis. I have done by best to strengthen and extend this practice.

"Members of both parties in and out of the congress have participated in the inner council in preparing, and in actually carrying out, the foreign policies of our government. It has been a national and not a party program. It will continue to be a national program insofar as the secretary of state and I are concerned. I firmly believe that our Republican colleagues who have worked intelligently and cooperatively with us in the task will do so in the future.

"My concern is not about those in either party who know the seriousness of the problems which confront us in our foreign affairs. Those who share great problems are united and not divided by them. My concern is lest any in either party should seek in this field an opportunity to achieve personal notoriety or partisan advantage by exploitation of the sensational or by the mere creation of controversy.

"We are set upon a hard course. An effort by either the executive or the legislative branch of the government to embarrass the other or to gain partisan advantage would bring frustration to our country. To follow the course with honor to ourselves and with benefit to our country, we must look beyond and above ourselves and our party interests for the true bearing.

"As president of the United States I am guided by a simple formula: To do in all cases, from day to day, without regard to narrow political considerations, what seems to me to be best for the welfare of all our people. Our search for that welfare must always be based upon a progressive concept of government.

"I shall cooperate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of cooperation will be reciprocated.

"To them, one and all, I pledge faith with faith, and promise to meet all good will with good will."

THE STRANGE CASE OF

or, how can an employer, who is 100% Union, with no Union disputes of any kind, have labor trouble?

The "local" breweries have a contract which holds good until April 1st, 1947—covering every man employed—with The Brewery Workers Union, affiliated with the C.I.O.

Under the Wagner Act the brewers must respect this contract—yet the A. F. of L. Teamsters Union insists we break the law, violate our contract and deal with their Union.

There is no sense, no logic, no basis in fact for this contest between these rival factions, for by so doing the A. F. of L. Teamsters not only attempt by force to compel the brewers to commit an illegal, unjustifiable act—but through un-American coercion, by threat of violence, picketing and secondary boycotting, they seek to force retailers and distributors to cease handling products which they know are 100% Union-made.

Remember, the brewers have no quarrel with either Union—the brewers have no part in any controversy—yet the products of the three brewing companies in Pittsburgh are falsely labeled "Unfair".

For the information of the public, the beer distributors, hotel keepers, taverns and clubs, all out-of-state and in-state beer sold in Western Pennsylvania is produced by The United Brewery Workers, affiliated with the C. I. O. This includes the following local brands:

Glassport Brings Championship Team Here Sunday

Plenty Of Punch Packed By Sturdy Glassport Pros

If you really want to see some football get over to Russell Field Sunday and be there for the kick-off because these Glassport players have a bad habit of running them back for big gains. In two of the games they have gone for scores right at the drop of the kick-off into the hands of a Glassport player. So watch those babies from the start to finish. They are terrific!

On the ground they pack punches a plenty. With a line of goodly weight they have power plus and can hold like a stone-wall. The backfield, too, is a hefty speedy bunch of men and it's going to be one of those games where the Glassport line-up will bear a bit of scrutiny from the followers of football in the Pittsburgh district as it numbers some of the boys who have been going great guns the past few years.

The roster of the team is as follows along with positions played, weights and numbers of the players:

New York, Nov. 15—(AP)—Col. John Reed Kilpatrick's revelation of plans for the newest "new" Madison Square Garden yesterday probably was the greatest flight of architectural fancy since Humer J. Fugazy broke out a couple of bottles of prohibition champagne nearly 20 years ago and old he was going to put up a sports arena that would make the new Garden look sick. The difference, of course, is that the Garden Corporation, has more adequate and plausible financial plans. Admittedly the 25,000 seat arena at Columbus Circle "still is the project stage" and at best "three years" away... but chances are it will be built. Some detractors claim there's one nature that could be used tonight. That's the section of the oor-that can be lowered to form diving pool. The boys say to catch the boxing ring over it and Elmer Ray and Jersey Joe Walcott get too mad, just lower away.

Although Colorado U. fielded a pair of tackles weighing a total of 507 pounds against Missouri, they were outweighed by 83 pounds by Missouri's Norval Peipmeier and Jim Kaleric. No wonder they speak of the "Big Mo".

Army, Penn Ready for Night Clash

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—(AP)—Penn Coach George Munger said today that his Red and Blue grid squad regards tomorrow's Army-Penn game here "as a great opportunity for them to redeem the loss to Princeton and establish themselves as a power."

But added Munger, "physically, all I can say is that they are ready to play."

"We've been going about preparations for this game just as for any other," the Penn mentor said, adding:

"The players have shown such snap in workouts this week that I'm sure they're up for the game."

Meanwhile, as the Army juggernaut rolled into town and set up camp, the Penn team slipped away under a cloak of secrecy to an undisclosed destination.

No announcement will be made of the Quakers' hideaway or the team's activities until after they return tomorrow.

Munger, who insists he's not worried at all about the game, said however that he wants his players to leave all their pre-

Farmer - Rotary Dinner Will Be Delightful Event Monday

An event which always attracts great attention in the county is the annual Farmer-Rotary dinner which brings together a group of leading farmers of the county and members of the Warren Rotary Club. This affair will take place Monday evening, Nov. 18 in the YWCA and a large attendance is anticipated. The program has been carefully arranged and several fine features will be presented.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and the menu has been carefully planned. Following the dinner James E. Hazeltine, Jr., will preside and the toastmaster will be Horace Stevenson. Music has been arranged and Harry Summers, director of music in the schools will present a high school orchestra ensemble. Group singing will be led by William Lutz and the Rotary Club double quartette will give several numbers.

Tech speaker of the evening will be Dr. L. D. Camplin, of Pennsylvania State College. He is an excellent speaker and his address is one that should appeal to all auditors.

A moving picture, with Arch Hunter as projectionist will be presented. It is a full length feature "Winter in Early New England" and is one that should prove most pleasing.

Large Class Is Initiated At PHC Meeting

About 75 persons attended the supper-meeting held last evening by the Protected Home Circle. The meeting which followed at eight o'clock was conducted by Robert Morrison, local supervisor.

A large class of candidates was initiated and much credit is due Mrs. Myers and members of her degree team. Also deserving of credit for the success of the affair is Sara Wright and her refreshment committee.

Vern Stevens, Greenville, the state deputy, acted as master of ceremonies, calling upon Joseph Nelson, Sharon, assistant supreme secretary; Robert Morrison, Warren, supervisor; Victor Guenther, Jamestown, N. Y., deputy; Charles Smith, Jamestown, president of the circle in that city; Gilbert Nelson, Clarendon, deputy.

The Coon Hunters played for dancing to round out a pleasant evening. Anna Arnold was presented a prize as the oldest member, both in years and in membership.

Beaty Pupils Will Enjoy First Party

Over 200 boys and girls are on committees for the Beatty community party which will be held at Beatty building this evening in conjunction with the American Education Week observance. The party will get under way at 8:30 o'clock and will close at 11.

Robert Dobbs' Orchestra is supplying the music for dancing in the gym. Assisting him are Dick Betts, Joe Fuchler, Jim Rock, Jerry Wyckoff, Ken Nicholson and Eugene O'Neill. The orchestra is also playing a specialty number for the floor show.

Marilyn Rutledge and Betty Scrivano are the co-chairmen who have been working on the floor show for tonight. Bill Schellhammer will preside as master of ceremonies. Comedy will be supplied by Bill with the assistance of Clyde Smith, Dean Blair and Jim Aeberli.

As the result of three auditions, the following numbers were selected for tonight's entertainment: L. G. Furman and Betty Scrivano will be the soloists. Mary Ann Schaffer and Patty Miller will be heard in a duet and also Bill Schellhammer and Harold Martin. The quartette for the evening will be comprised of Betty Intihar, Mary Henning, Joanne Leet, and Joanne Massa. Marcia Stevens and Dawn Tatt are presenting two numbers with guitar accompaniment.
